What if one healthcare IT company is stronger than two?

To convey our unified, strategic focus on helping you answer healthcare’s biggest challenges, TriZetto – a member of the Cognizant family since 2014 – is now, simply, Cognizant.

But this is much more than a name change.

By integrating the software product expertise of TriZetto into the consulting, infrastructure, digital, and business management services of Cognizant, we’ve built a highly focused healthcare leader – one with unmatched, end-to-end healthcare solutions to help our clients achieve new levels of performance efficiency and adopt digital transformation as never before.

While the TriZetto company brand will be retired, the trusted name will remain a key component of Cognizant’s portfolio as TriZetto Healthcare Products, encompassing both our current and future software offerings.

With analytics and digital technologies now the drivers of the rapidly changing healthcare business, access to leading-edge innovation, technology platforms, and healthcare services has never been more important. Our commanding depth and breadth of resources give you the flexibility you’ll need in this challenging environment.

Because we’re not just a stronger company. We’re a stronger partner.
Back in 2014, TriZetto joined the Cognizant family because we saw the opportunity to deliver a whole new level of product and service performance and innovation to our clients. The message was clear to our customers and employees: exciting things were on the horizon.

Our goal was to re-imagine healthcare and make it sustainable in the future. We believed that the combination of Cognizant and TriZetto would help to Make Better Healthcare Happen.™
Cognizant brings an unprecedented level of resources, expertise, and commitment to help our clients improve interactions and outcomes for over 180 million lives. Our products and services are focused on the biggest challenges you face, including:

- The government’s growing role in healthcare, as the government has become the largest funder of insured lives in the U.S.
- The shift to consumerism as healthcare increasingly becomes a retail business.
- The increased focus on value-based and collaborative-care models, and changing payer and provider business models.
- Ongoing compliance requirements that are fundamentally impacting underlying business models of all healthcare participants.
- Cost optimization and the challenge to improve quality and improve the patient experience, all while lowering costs.
