Healthcare is at a point of convergence: Industry shifts are impacting the way healthcare is done today.

While there are many factors contributing to the industry-wide shift, As a Service models are changing how businesses are investing in technology and providing the necessary operational agility to expand as the market grows. Bringing together automation, insights, and best-in-class industry processes and platforms allows businesses to focus on creating new products, cultivating a better customer experience and establishing a strong competitive differentiation.

Given the current political climate, financial pressures and compliance requirements that government health plans are now experiencing, as a Service models are the way forward.

Cognizant’s comprehensive healthcare practice spans all aspects of the healthcare ecosystem and provides a broad range of services and solutions that address regulatory requirements, emerging industry trends and operational improvements.

An industry leader for government lines of business.

Through the combination of technology innovation, passion for client satisfaction, deep healthcare industry understanding, a collaborative workforce and business process expertise, Cognizant has positioned itself as an industry leader and provider of information technology, business process and platform services, business consulting and digital offerings to leading healthcare companies.
Delivering end-to-end capabilities.

Our specific experience offers unparalleled expertise to serve health plans of all sizes across the government spectrum. Cognizant’s end-to-end capabilities helps you achieve business outcomes whether you are new to the government programs market or looking to evolve and scale your existing business.

To further expand our capabilities in the government market, Cognizant recently acquired TMG Health. From front-end processing and enrollment to claims administration to medical management, we can provide the services and desk-level procedures that support administration of both Medicare Advantage and Managed Medicaid programs.

Consulting

From strategy and planning to program implementation, business optimization and digital transformation, Cognizant’s full suite of consulting and advisory services is specifically designed for health plans that serve the government programs market.

We can help your business address today’s challenges, including regulatory compliance, integrated health management, consumerism, health intelligence and analytics, and more.

Business Process as a Service

BPaaS provides operational agility to enter into the government space quickly and to expand as the market grows. Our government programs BPaaS brings together automation, insights, best-in-class industry processes, platforms and an outcome-driven, integrated service delivery and program governance framework.

Health plans can create new products, focus on customer experience and have a strong competitive differentiation while addressing the pressures of both Medical Loss Ratio (MLR) and Administrative Loss Ratio (ALR).
The Cognizant government BPaaS integration model.

The typical government BPaaS model enables Cognizant to manage overall operations and technology services, which allows health plans to focus on core strategy and business.
