

Candidate Privacy Notice

Last updated: 16 May 2019

Introduction

Cognizant Technology Solutions Corporation and its affiliated companies ("Cognizant" "we" or "us") are firmly committed to protecting your privacy. This Candidate Privacy Notice ("Notice") explains what we do with personal information we collect during the recruitment process through the Careers portal on the Cognizant websites ("Site") or by other means.

As a global company, Cognizant has a number of legal entities in different jurisdictions which are responsible for the personal information which they collect. The data controller for Personal Information collected during the recruitment process is the Cognizant company in your jurisdiction to whom you submit your application (all Cognizant companies can be found via this link: Cognizant Worldwide). If you are unsure as to which Cognizant company is applicable to you, please contact us (see Contact Us section below).

Please note that the Site is hosted by Phenom People Inc..

The Site (and recruitment process) is not intended for minors under the age of 16.

What other rules or notices apply?

The Cognizant Global Associate Privacy Notice ("APN") is also applicable. The APN provides general information about how Cognizant uses the personal information of prospective, current and past employees and contractors, whilst this Notice informs (potential) candidates specifically about the collection and use of their personal information during the recruitment process.

In some cases, local laws and regulations that apply to the Processing of Personal Information may be more restrictive than this Notice. Where this is the case, the more restrictive requirements will apply. Where required by local laws, Cognizant will provide you with additional privacy notices or information. In addition, this Notice may be supplemented from time to time with more specific privacy information or notices.

What are we going to tell you in this notice?

How we collect and use your Personal Information

Types of Personal Information

We may collect the following general types of information about you:

Personal Information – During the recruitment process, we collect information from you in connection with your application. Information we collect includes:

- Name, address, telephone number, email address and other contact information
- Information you submit in resumes/CV's/letters, including but not limited to employment history, academic qualifications, professional qualifications and skills;
- Whether or not you were previously employed by Cognizant, including employee ID
- Other relevant information you elect to provide, such as employment preferences, willingness to relocate, current salary, desired salary, awards or professional memberships, professional and other work related licenses, permits and certifications;
- Information generated by interviewers and recruiters, based on their interactions with you, e.g. via a recruitment or campus hiring event, or basic Internet searches;
- Information provided by third-party recruiters, staffing companies or executive search agencies, where applicable;
- Recommendations provided on your behalf by others;
- Documentation required under immigration laws;
- Personal Information submitted or generated as a result of psychological, technical or behavioural assessments undertaken; you will receive more information about the nature of such assessments before your participation in any of them;
- Your Public LinkedIn profile, if you choose to import your profile to get personalized job recommendations;
- Username and password (if available on the Site).

Should you be successful for a role, we would then ask you to provide information about third parties, such as references or contacts that you provide to us. You are responsible for ensuring that you have permission to submit any such information and that such individuals are aware that their information will be available to Cognizant or its clients for the purposes of taking up references.

Sensitive Personal Information - We do not require you to provide any Sensitive Personal Information during the recruitment process. Nonetheless, should you be successful for a role, we –where permitted by applicable law- may then ask you to provide some Sensitive Personal Information and/or identification numbers to enable us to comply with legal requirements at a national level (e.g. in relation to equal opportunities legislation).

In addition, you may also be subject to a background check, where justified by the particular role you are applying to and subject to the applicable laws of the country you are located in. The content of background check information varies by country to comply with local requirements, but may include information gathered from publicly available sources, your former employers or colleagues, schools you have attended, credit reporting agencies, and criminal records databases. You will receive more information about the nature of such a background check before it begins and no such checks will be undertaken without your express prior consent, where this is required by applicable law.

Otherwise we ask that you avoid submitting information which may qualify as sensitive information under applicable law, except where such information is legally required.

Aggregated information - This is information that is aggregated and therefore not uniquely personal to you, but which refers to selected population or geographic characteristics, age, gender, occupation, preferences, and interests in accordance with applicable laws.

Behavioural information - We and our service provider (Phenom People Inc) use “cookies” and similar technologies on the Site. For more information and to manage your settings, please see the Career Site Cookie Policy and the Cognizant Cookie Notice.

Any information you submit must be true, complete and not misleading. Submitting inaccurate, incomplete or misleading information may make you ineligible for employment.

Sources from which the Personal Information originates

We may also collect information about you directly from you or from other sources (where permissible and in accordance with applicable law):

- From you directly or from your use of the Site
- From referrers, referees and former employers.
- From conversations with recruiters and other Cognizant associates or representatives, as well as from internet searches that these individuals may perform, or data that they may obtain from job search or professional networking websites (e.g. LinkedIn, etc) where you may have made data about yourself publicly available;
- From third party recruiters, staffing companies or executive search agencies that are contracted by Cognizant;
- From background checks, as applicable. Where permitted by law, we may contract with a third party to perform a pre-employment background screening. You will receive more information about the nature of such a background check before it begins and no such checks will be undertaken without your express prior consent, where this is required by applicable law.

Who will have access to your Personal Information

In general, access to your Personal Information will be restricted to the relevant people in Cognizant who need it for the purposes set out in this Privacy Notice (e.g. your potential future managers and direct colleagues, recruitment, HR and IT).

We may disclose your Personal Information, as required and in accordance with applicable laws, as follows:

- Third party service providers: We use a third party service provider (namely Phenom People Inc.) who is located in the United States (300 Brookside Avenue, Building 18, Suite 200, Ambler, PA 19002) to assist us in managing our Site and who may have access to your Personal Information. Your Personal Information may also be shared with other third party service providers who have been retained to provide services on behalf of Cognizant, such as for the storage of data or the maintenance of our Site.
- Cognizant Affiliates: Due to the global nature of Cognizant's business, Personal Information may be shared, disclosed and transferred between the various Cognizant Affiliates where such transfers are required for legitimate business reasons, e.g. recruiters, hiring managers, talent managers and administrative and IT functions may be located in other countries than the country where the position you are applying for is based.
- Clients: where applicable, your Personal Information, such as your CV, may be shared with the relevant client for project related purposes.
- Potential mergers or acquisitions: Following an acquisition of any or all of Cognizant's business operations, whether by way of acquisition of shares or stock, merger, consolidation or asset purchase and regardless of any possible new company name, we will notify you about any changes in the data controllership.
- Insolvency proceedings: If Cognizant becomes the subject of insolvency proceedings, whether voluntary or involuntary, Cognizant or its liquidator, administrator, receiver or administrative receiver or similar officer may sell, license or otherwise dispose of your Personal Information in a transaction approved by the court of competent jurisdiction. We will notify you of any relevant sale of our business operations by a posting on the Site or via email.
- Legal obligations: We may disclose your Personal Information where required to comply with our legal obligations, including where necessary to abide by law, regulation or contract, or to respond to a court order, administrative or judicial process, including, but not limited to, a subpoena, government audit or search warrant.
- Public bodies and authorities: We may disclose your Personal Information pursuant to a request from a governmental or regulatory entity/body or if we believe in good faith that such disclosure is necessary to (1) comply with legal or regulatory requirements or for the purposes of compliance with legal process; (2) prevent crime; (3) prevent any terrorist activity or threat to national security; (4) protect the personal safety or wellbeing of users of the Site or any other person.
- Legal proceedings: Cognizant may disclose your Personal Information to the extent permitted by appropriate law where necessary to establish, exercise or defend against potential, threatened or actual legal claims.
- Vital interests: We may disclose your Personal Information where necessary to protect your vital interests or those of another person.

International Transfers of your Personal Information

As further detailed above under the section 'Who will have access to your Personal Information', due to the global nature of Cognizant's business, Personal Information may be shared, disclosed and transferred between the various Cognizant Affiliates and third parties where such transfers are required for legitimate business reasons.

Where Cognizant transfers your Personal Information internationally, which may include transferring Personal Information outside of the European Economic Area (EEA), Cognizant will comply with applicable legal requirements.

Unless notified otherwise, any transfers of your Personal Data from within the European Economic Area to Cognizant Affiliates or third parties outside the EEA will be based on an adequacy decision or are governed by the Standard Contractual Clauses.

Any other, non-EEA originating, international transfers of your personal data, will take place in accordance with the appropriate international data transfer mechanisms and safeguards.

How long we retain your Personal Information

We will retain Personal Information for the period necessary to fulfil the purposes outlined in this Notice, unless a longer retention period is required or permitted by law. The criteria used to determine our retention periods are (i) the duration of the application process, (ii) as long as we have an ongoing relationship with you, (iii) as required by a legal obligation to which we are subject; and (iv) as advisable in light of our legal position (such as in relation to statutes of limitations, litigation or regulatory investigations).

If you become an employee of Cognizant, your Personal Information will be retained in accordance with the Associate Privacy Notice.

How we protect your Personal Information

Cognizant implements appropriate security measures designed to prevent unlawful or unauthorized Processing of Personal Information and accidental loss of or damage to Personal Information. Cognizant maintains written security management policies and procedures designed to prevent, detect, contain, and correct violations of measures taken to protect the confidentiality, integrity, availability, or security of your Personal Information. These policies and procedures assign specific data security responsibilities and accountabilities to specific individuals, include a risk management program that includes periodic risk assessment and provide an adequate framework of controls that safeguard your Personal Information. Where we contract with third parties to provide services that may enable them to access your Personal Information we require them by contract to have similar security controls in place.

What are your rights

To the extent these rights are provided to you by applicable law, you may:

- request access to your Personal Information or to correct, update or request deletion of your Personal Information. You can do so by contacting us at SAR@cognizant.com.
- object to processing of your Personal Information, ask us to restrict processing of your Personal Information or request portability of your Personal Information. Again, you can exercise these rights by contacting us at SAR@cognizant.com.
- If we have collected and process your Personal Information with your consent, then you can withdraw your consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent will not affect the lawfulness of any processing we conducted prior to your withdrawal, nor will it affect processing of your Personal Information conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.
- You have the right to complain to a data protection authority about our collection and use of your Personal Information. For more information, please contact your local data protection authority. (Contact details for data protection authorities in the European Economic Area, Switzerland are available here) or to initiate a lawsuit due to the breach of your Personal Information at the regional court with geographical jurisdiction based on your residence or based on the seat of the data controller.

We respond to all requests we receive from individuals wishing to exercise their data protection rights in accordance with applicable data protection laws. Complying with all or part of your request may be denied or limited by Cognizant if it would violate another person's rights and/or as otherwise permitted by applicable law.

Before responding to a request, we reserve the right to verify and authenticate your identity and the information that your request relates to.

If an archival copy of your Personal Information is required to be retained by applicable law after receiving a request for deletion or closure of your account, we will follow the statutory term for such a retention.
