

"As clinical data management rapidly evolves with rising trial complexity, increasing adoption of AI-driven automation, and the demand for more flexible delivery models, enterprises are looking for providers that can deliver innovation at scale," said Vandana Sharma, Practice Director at Everest Group. "Cognizant distinguishes itself through its comprehensive end-to-end capabilities, strengthened by specialized AI agents that drive automation across data capture, patient profile completion, and discrepancy detection. By enhancing its ecosystem through strategic partnerships such as ThoughtSphere, eClinical, and SAAMA, Cognizant has effectively integrated advanced technology with strong delivery expertise. This combination of innovation, responsiveness, and deep domain knowledge has enabled Cognizant to secure its position as a Leader in Everest Group's Clinical Data Management Operations PEAK Matrix® Assessment 2025."
