

Finance, HR and supply chain transformation for healthcare

Delivering better care with digital transformation

The healthcare landscape is constantly evolving due to emerging technology, new government regulations, nursing shortages and shifting patient needs. As a healthcare organization today, you must be agile and able to adjust to these changes. Yet agility alone isn't enough. You also need faster insights to make faster decisions.

Aligning people, processes and technology enables leaders in healthcare to adapt efficiently and effectively to trends or obstacles in the industry, and digitizing healthcare lays a solid foundation for any future changes.

With Workday, your organization can leverage one system for finance, HR and supply chain management to:

- Provide employees with an updated experience, minimizing their ERP interaction and enabling more time for patient care
- Adapt quickly to growth and change
- Maintain compliance with today's regulatory mandates, which would create a list of potential "at risk" employees
- Support a transition to value-based procurement
- Minimize off-contract spend in supply chain, saving significant dollars
