

Post-production support

What is Workday post-production support?

Exceptional client support through quality leadership, partnerships and services to enable organizations to realize the full potential and value of Workday.

Why choose Cognizant’s Workday practice for post-production support?

We are a leading global provider of Workday full platform post-production services with true flexibility and a knowledge transfer approach proven to drive client self-sufficiency. Our offering also includes strategic road mapping, post-deployment governance services and comprehensive Workday organizational change and training services to make the most of your investment.

High-value target consulting

- One of the largest Workday practices with 1,700+ Workday experts
- Global presence with deployments in 125+ countries
- Tenured partner with 2,100+ Workday clients

Cutting-edge Workday partner

- The largest Workday post-production provider in the ecosystem
- 100% Workday certified
- Workday optimization across new releases

Holistic delivery and thought leadership

- Portfolio execution across all services
- Prescriptive offerings built around years of experience working with clients
- User adoption support
- Knowledge across all industries including higher education, government, healthcare and nonprofit

Scalability of service

- Focus on flexibility
- Shift hours as your demands may change
- Full platform support for post-production projects and unplanned assistance requests

For more information about our post-production support, contact us at inquiries@collaborativesolutions.com