Cognizant Fusekit[®]: The do-everything Salesforce productivity toolkit

Made with you in mind

At Cognizant, we implement, customize and train our clients on best practices related to customer relationship management (CRM), Configure Price Quote (CPQ), Billing, and a host of other cloud and SaaS software solutions. In addition to delivering top-of-the-line platform development and deployments, we streamline productivity and optimize interactions with Salesforce via Fusekit.

Fusekit was developed at Cognizant, a global, tools-driven consulting leader. It was created to provide massive efficiency gains to our thousands of consultants working in the Salesforce ecosystem.

The simplicity you want. The functionality you need.

Fusekit is a cloud-based toolkit that saves you hours on Salesforce configuration, development, deployments and data migrations, utilizing these great benefits:

All your orgs in one place

Most Salesforce tools only allow you to operate on a single org. We found this to be frustrating, so instead we let you setup as many Salesforce orgs as you'd like in FuseKit, and easily switch between them while using the app.

Your Salesforce data at your fingertips

Getting the data you need out of Salesforce can be a hassle. Our powerful point-and-click query tool will help you retrieve records and metadata, even allowing you to pull data from objects linked through five levels of relationships.

Powerful data loading capabilities

Upload data to a single object, or upload data for several different objects at once, saving you from manually creating relationships. For example, load all of your Products and PriceBookEntries with a single load and Salesforce will create the relationships for you.

Quickly find differences in your Salesforce orgs

Instantly gain confidence in your deployments by comparing Objects (including picklist values on fields), Records, Metadata, and Apex code between Salesforce orgs.

Deploy external IDs

Easily create external IDs on multiple objects, specifying profile information and populating data for the fields in the source org.

Bulk update records

Populate a field on many records at once or just force update records in bulk.

Generate package files

Use a point-and-click editor to build a customer package.xml and download the metadata as a zip file for deployment.

Create new fields

With a few clicks, create dozens of new fields and deploy them across multiple objects.

Deploy / retrieve metadata

Use a package.xml file to quickly retrieve zipped metadata from one org and deploy it to another.

Run rich reports

Generate detailed Salesforce object reports, saving hours during data mapping.

Your data is secure with Fusekit

We know your data is precious to you, so we built our entire solution around ensuring that it remains secure.

Access

Fusekit is only granted the same access permissions as your Salesforce user account.

Storage

We never store any of your Salesforce record data on our servers.

Hosting

Fusekit is hosted on enterprise-grade servers with Heroku, which is owned by Salesforce
